

Cotton Governors Call for 50 Per Cent Crop Slash

BILL GIVING PHILIPPINES INDEPENDENCE IN 10 YEARS WINS APPROVAL OF CONGRESS

MEMPHIS PARLEY PRODUCES DEMAND FOR HALF ACREAGE

Georgia's Representative Is Recorded as Opposed; Two Minority Reports Presented But Maximum Reduction Is Voted.

PROPOSAL REQUIRES LEGISLATIVE ACTS

Governors Call Upon U.S. To Help Farmers With Tax Payments and Stop Lending for Seed.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 29.—(AP)—A compulsory 50 per cent curtailment of next year's cotton crop was endorsed here tonight by the southwide conference of governors as a means of bolstering the price of the staple.

The proposal, which carried the approval of Governors Comer, of Mississippi, and Blackwood, of South Carolina, as well as representatives of the governors of Texas, Tennessee, Louisiana, Alabama and Oklahoma, did not have unanimous agreement.

Georgia Dissents. One minority report was submitted by Charles T. Coleman, of Little Rock, representing Governor Harvey Parnell, of Arkansas. Another minority report came from Tom Lammie, representing Governor-elect Talmadge, of Georgia, a proponent of a cotton holiday for 1934.

The majority report endorsed legislation following the general lines of the acts of the legislatures of Texas, Arkansas and Mississippi last winter. The Texas act, later held unconstitutional by a lower court, provided that not more than 50 per cent of cultivated land could be planted to cotton. Sponsors estimate this legislation would cut cotton acreage by 50 per cent.

Governor Comer was instructed to communicate the sentiment of the conference to governors of the cotton growing states.

"In the event Governor Comer can not secure the consent of governors of states producing not less than three-fourths of the cotton crop, to amend the legislation already described, the majority report said, 'Governor Comer is then authorized and requested to call a conference of the governors of all cotton producing states to meet at such time and such place as he may deem proper.'

Another 'Fast to Death' Threatened by Gandhi

POONA, India, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Mahatma Gandhi, brown little leader of the nationalist cause in India, today laid down a new ultimatum to the British government in behalf of the nation's millions of untouchables.

Unless Great Britain sponsors an enabling bill to remove legal disabilities which forbid depressed classes from entering Hindu temples by mid-January, Gandhi told the United Press, he will begin another 'fast unto death' in Yeravda jail.

LOAN TO AUSTRIA OF 14 MILLIONS VOTED BY FRANCE

Measure Passes Over Opposition of Herriot Who Recalls Refusal to Pay U. S., War Ally.

PARIS, Dec. 29.—(AP)—The chamber of deputies, by a vote of 351 to 187, tonight authorized the government to participate in the projected reconstruction loan for Austria, which will mean an advance by France of approximately $14,000,000.

This action was taken over the objections of a group of deputies who argued that France should not lend money to Austria when only two weeks ago she refused to make the war debt interest payment of approximately $19,000,000 due the United States.

Former Premier Herriot, who was responsible for French policy on the Austrian loan question when he headed the government, vigorously defended it before the chamber.

One of the principal opponents of the action was Deputy Henry Hays, who said: "Two weeks ago we refused to pay $50,000,000 francs to those to whom we owed something; are we going to give $50,000,000 francs to those to whom we owe nothing?"

A similar argument was advanced by Deputy Louis Marin, nationalist leader, who led the opposition to the December 15 payment to the United States.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Law's law, its dignity must be upheld, and that's why San Francisco streets on New Year's Eve may be crowded with men in maculately clad from the waist up but minus their trousers.

The dictum came today from Colonel George Seaver, deputy prohibition administrator.

POLICE VETERANS SIDESTEP OUSTER

Legal Snag Encountered in Scheduled Retirement of 22 Members.

Scheduled retirement of 22 "physically unfit members" of the Atlanta department Thursday night hit a legal snag, and the police committee adjourned to seek advice of City Attorney James L. Mayson before proceeding with the citations of the men.

George Spence, who told the committee he represented a group of the men cited to show cause why they should not be dismissed from service because of physical incompetence, filed a general demurrer to the charges, saying they were indefinite and lacked proper specifications.

He warned the committee that ouster of any of the men under the charges could and would be carried to the courts, where he was convinced the city would be ordered to reinstate them.

Spence fought the celebrated James Reid was the stern reply.

Man's Evolution Just Begun, Professor Tells Scientists

By F. B. COLTON. ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 29.—(AP)—The earth 500,000,000 years from now will be populated by a whole new class of creatures who will trace their ancestry back to man, if man's past is any guide to his future, the American Association for the Advancement of Science was told today.

The human race, or a race of still higher beings that will develop out of it, seems destined to survive for many hundreds of millions of years, said Professor William K. Gregory, of the American Museum of Natural History, New York. Man's long evolution from the fishes, Professor Gregory said, shows that even after progressing so far he may be just the preliminary stage of a whole new branch of evolution.

ROOSEVELT TO GET FREE REIN IN DRIVE TO CUT U. S. COSTS

Democrats To Disregard Hoover Program of Reorganization in Favor of Chief's Plans.

By THOMAS L. STOKES. WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Democratic congressional leaders decided today to give President-elect Roosevelt absolute power in his administration to reorganize the unwieldy government structure that costs nearly $5,000,000,000 a year.

Thus the new president would have the responsibility of rooting out the "dead wood" of useless and overlapping bureaus as part of his program of saving a billion dollars a year.

This plan, previously considered, was offered today to meet, as far as possible, the budget balancing dilemma that arose when Roosevelt ruled out the sales tax. Though none of the leaders mentioned the president-elect in discussing the plan, it was understood to have his approval.

This delegation of extraordinary authority will apply only to the incoming administration. President Hoover's plan of reorganization, recently submitted, probably will be formally interred by passage of a resolution in the next few days.

Commission Rejects Appeal of Gallogly

The Georgia prison commission, by unanimous vote, Thursday declined to recommend executive clemency for Dick Gallogly, Atlanta youth serving a life sentence for murder.

The petition of Gallogly for a pardon or parole was sent to Governor Richard B. Russell Jr., with a note signed by the three members of the commission, which said they declined to recommend clemency.

Governor Russell is not expected to take up the petition (or any further action unless requested to do so by members of Gallogly's family or his attorneys.

FATE OF MEASURE AT HOOVER'S HAND REMAINS IN DOUBT

President Has Not Made Known His Views But Some of Closest Advisors at White House Have Advocated Veto.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(AP)—By a preponderantly lopsided vote the house today passed the much-disputed issue of Philippine independence on to the White House where an uncertain fate awaited it.

From members of President Hoover's party, the freedom measure—a conference agreement with the senate providing independence after a 10-year transitional period—received extensive support. In the final house decision only 16 stood in opposition, while 71 arose to back the bill.

Among those who have kept closely informed on the subject, there was a distinct inclination to believe Mr. Hoover would veto the measure. Many point to his last direct statement on the question—that immediate freedom would lead the islands to disaster.

It was a little over a year ago, October 27, 1931, that President Hoover spoke. After hearing the conclusions brought back by Secretary Hurley from an inspection of the islands, the chief executive told newspapermen: "Independence tomorrow without Continued in Page 3, Column 2.

Hoover Will Begin Sail Fish Hunt Today

WITH PRESIDENT HOOVER IN FLORIDA INLAND PASSAGE

Dec. 29.—(AP)—President Hoover headed into an anchorage at Palm Beach tonight, clearing tomorrow morning his search for sail fish or any other deep sea denizen that will come near his boat.

The presidential cruising flotilla was placed behind schedule because of rough waters on the Atlantic ocean. The party had expected to leave the inland passage around Fort Pierce in favor of the open sea but a steep breeze had stirred a swell that would have made cruising uncomfortable on the shallow draft boats.

How long the Hoover party will remain at Palm Beach, where an anchorage has been arranged off the Seafish Club, probably will depend in part upon the luck enjoyed by the president.

Technocrats' Claims Scored As Economists Defend Selves

CINCINNATI, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Two-thirds of the nation's working force would have been idle, even before the present depression began.

The statisticians in 1930, he said, found that of all persons reported as usually engaged in factory work, 9.12 per cent were unemployed, and of them, such causes as reductions in labor force, substitution of cheaper labor, advancing age of the worker, introduction of new machines and other phases of industrial policy accounted for only 9,357 idle men out of a total of 2,686,145 reported as unemployed.

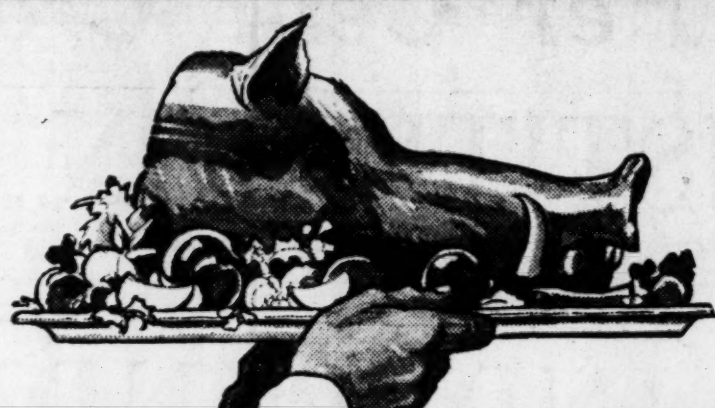

Professor King said his conclusions were that technological improvements merely caused labor to shift from one industry to another and that technological unemployment usually is

ENRAGED HUSBAND KILLS THREE, SELF

Mother-in-Law, Brother-in-Law and Son Slain in Miami Tragedy.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 29.—(AP)—A 57-year-old woman died here today of a bullet wound to the head, the result of a killing started by an enraged husband's inability to see his estranged wife.

The fourth victim was Mrs. Sarah Ann Parnell, 30, who had been her son-in-law, who wielded a death-dealing pistol at the Parnell home last night.

The son-in-law was Raleigh E. Still, 32-year-old mechanical engineer and painter who, failing in three attempts to see Mrs. Parnell, 30, at her mother's home last night shot his mother-in-law and fatally wounded him as the latter sought to assist his mother.

Still entered the house and shot his sleeping six-year-old son in the head, killing him.

Then he turned the pistol on himself, inflicting wounds that proved fatal as Mrs. Still, who had been visiting friends in Fort Lauderdale, entered the hospital room where he had been taken by police. Parnell's wife and her three children, elsewhere in the house, were unharmed.

Mrs. Still today related to police the story of an unhappy married life leading up to the domestic tragedy last night.

She and Still were married in 1925, she said, several years after he came here from Spencer, N. C. They separated and were reconciled several times and he finally went several months ago to Norfolk, Va., returning here in November.

He had made numerous attempts to have her return to live with him, Mrs. Still said, and she had told him the first of the week she would give him a definite answer within a few days.

She said she assumed this was his purpose in coming to the house last night.

Police Lieutenant John McCarthy said he assumed from the evidence from other members of the family, that Still went to the Parnell home last night determined to compel his wife to return to him, with murder as an alternative.

The Parnells came here from White Springs, Fla.

The bodies of the victims were in funeral homes today pending completion of funeral arrangements.

States, our ally who fought on our side in the world war.

He expressed the belief that the $14,000,000 would be "money lost, of which the lenders would not get back a cent."

Premier Joseph Paul-Boncour, appealing for a favorable vote, said the loan was necessary for the stability of the French Republic.

The senate also considered financial measures today, voting in favor of a 5,000,000,000 franc (about $195,000,000) issue of treasury bonds requested by the government as provisional credits for January.

The senate also voted in favor of placing wheat funds in the hands of an army purchasing board instead of creating a bureau.

It is expected that the chamber and the senate will adjourn tomorrow until January 1.

The Austrian loan was recommended by the League of Nations, France, Great Britain, Italy, Switzerland, Holland and Belgium among them were to provide about $43,000,000. The purpose of the loan was to save Austria from its perilous financial condition.

Earlier this week the French wheat measure was before the chamber of deputies which authorized the government to advance up to 300,000,000 francs (about $11,700,000) to agricultural credit association for one year to finance the wheat crop. The purpose was to help raise the price of the grain.

assured economic stability would result in the collapse of Philippine government revenues and the collapse of all economic life in the islands.

Further he spoke of "the necessity that independence must be assured of durability and the government of the Philippines . . . assured of stability."

On a record vote, the most outspoken of the administration group on the question, flatly opposed the original Hawes-Cutting bill which provided for independence after 20 years, and as late as December 3, this year, re-stated in his annual report that:

"The political chaos in the orient today is such that it is unwise to have no time to deal with Philippine independence."

Some republicans were so confident of a veto that they did not demand a record vote when the house, after an hour's debate, shouted its approval of the independence agreement reached with the senate. The majority vote could be obtained to uphold a veto if members did not go on record at this time.

On a record vote, the same house last year passed an independence bill, 204 to 47. Neither on first passage or in acting on the conference agreement was a roll call ballot taken in the senate.

Islanders Divided.
The attitude of island leaders toward the legislation also seemed divided. In Manila, Manuel Quezon, president of the insular republic, branded the measure as a "joke" which would provide a "fictional independence."

Legislators meeting with him as the independence commission adopted a resolution of opinion that the measure among the Filipinos was based on the 10-year transition period provided and retention of naval bases by the United States, not the limitation on imports which was one of the chief forces behind the measure in the United States.

During the hour allotted to discuss the conference report in the house, only one representative, Underhill, republican, Massachusetts, spoke against the bill.

"This is an injustice to the Philippines," he said, "it's unfair, it's un-Christian, it's uncivilized, and it's going to cause more war and trouble in the world than any of us here conceive today."

Though he voted for it, Representative Hopper, republican, Michigan, said he considered the measure originally, devoted most of his time to outlining the bill's provisions, but in reply to questions said personally he would have preferred independence within five instead of ten years.

Representative Knutson, republican, Minnesota, said the bill was not the best but "the best possible under the circumstances." Representative Yon, democrat, Florida, said he was glad to vote to free the Philippines.

These five speeches were all the discussion before the vote. Afterward, the two island commissioners, Camilo Osias and Pedro Guevara, expressed their thanks to the house.

The bill's principal provisions would grant independence after ten years, however, an export tax of 5 per cent of the United States tariff would be applied to these shipments, increasing to 25 per cent after ten years.

The immigration would be fixed at 50 a year during the ten years and completely prohibited after independence.

If after obtaining an opinion from Mayson it is found that the citations lacked proper specifications as to the complaints against the various officers, the entire matter will have to be carried to the 1933 police committee, as a five-day notice is required to bring any officer on trial under civil service laws.

Adams, New State Farm Head, Prepares To Take Over Office

G. Claude Adams, of Covington, commissioner-elect of agriculture, Thursday established himself in the offices of Commissioner Eugene Talmadge preparatory to taking over the office when Mr. Talmadge retires on January 3.

The new commissioner said he wanted to work with Mr. Talmadge several days before taking over his duties.

Mr. Talmadge has achieved such a notable success in this office that I want to learn all I can from him," Mr. Adams said. "I hope to get many pointers during the next few days, and those I do not get now I'll get from him after he enters the governor's office."

Mr. Talmadge said Thursday that he likely would set up temporary offices in a downtown hotel for use between January 3 and the date of his inauguration, January 10. He said he will need an office in which to receive visitors and to handle his correspondence.

Mr. Adams announced that Miss Anne Vaughn, of Columbus, would be his private secretary and that H. B. Adams, of Decatur, the commissioner-elect's brother, will be his chief clerk. Judge Max McRae, of McRae, who has been the department of agriculture's chief field agent under Mr. Talmadge, will remain in the department but his exact capacity has not been determined, Mr. Adams announced. J. W. Rountree, former Atlanta county clerk, and B. W. Cochran, of Fairburn, also are expected to be in the office. It is expected that Mr. Rountree will succeed Arthur D. Jones as director of the bureau of markets.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 29.—(UP)—The Arizona supreme court today denied the petition of Winnie Ruth Judd's attorneys to grant her a rehearing on her decision upholding her sentence to death.

The supreme court handed down its denial shortly after the state attorney-general's motion protesting the rehearing petition was filed with the tribunal.

Meanwhile, the Maricopa county grand jury, which yesterday heard Mrs. Judd "tell all," postponed its action in its efforts to determine the identity of an alleged accessory, said to have placed the bodies of Mrs. Judd and her husband, Samuelson, in trunks, first dismembering that of Mrs. Samuelson. Mrs. Judd was reported to have testified she did not dismember Miss Samuelson's body.

for the shooting had not been ascertained.

Abernathy, they said, started his murderous rampage by shooting and killing Captain Wessely at the home of the Palmers and shot them.

Coming outside, Abernathy wounded Lieutenant Matthews and then shot dead himself by the military guard.

Post officers, led in a preliminary inquiry by their commander, Lieutenant Colonel M. C. Tomlinson, expressed belief that Abernathy either became suddenly deranged and attacked Captain Wessely without rational cause or had been laboring under some fancied urge for revenge upon commissioned officers.

In December, 1930, Abernathy, a sergeant at that time, was released to civil authorities of Coshue county for trial on a manslaughter charge. He first pleaded guilty and then reversed his plea, receiving a suspended sentence of 11 years' imprisonment.

The charge grew out of a motor car accident in Douglas, Ark., in which a man was killed.

LEFT OUT OF WILL, SERVANT KILLS 3

Studebaker's Chauffeur
Slays Wife, Child and Self; New Will Blamed.

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—(AP)—The story of Peter Peterson and his wife and daughter ended today in double murder and suicide.

It began 20 years ago when Peter went to work for Clement Studebaker Jr. as footman. Studebaker was one of the South Bend wagonmakers then.

As wagon making turned to automobile manufacturing, Peter became the family chauffeur. He stayed at that job 21 years, long enough for Pauline, the daughter of Peter and Anna, to grow into a 20-year-old senior at Northwestern University with high scholastic standing.

Clement Studebaker Jr., of late a leader in public utilities, died. And in will he left $5,000 to the faithful family chauffeur out of the wealth amassed from Studebaker motor cars and public utilities. But yesterday a later will was found, leaving Peter Peterson nothing.

Peter had grieved for his employer and counselor. He had brooded over loss of his life's investments. This will was the finish.

He walked into his daughter's bedroom this morning, placed a revolver at her temple and fired.

He walked to the sunparlor where his wife lay slumbering and sent a bullet into her temple.

Then he went methodically about the business of notifying those who should know, and making ready to die. He telephoned a niece and asked her to come in right away.

"Anna and Pauline are dead," he said. "I will be with them in a little while, too. Jennie, and I want you to take care of everything. I have left a note for you to tell your mother to my family." In the note he told how to dispose of his little property.

When he called the police, told them where to find the bodies.

Then Peter telephoned Clement Studebaker III, 38-year-old son of his late employer.

Studebaker and the police arrived simultaneously at the Peterson flat. Peter had lain down beside his dead wife, pulled up a blanket and ended his life.

The younger Studebaker said there had been no change in Peter's $200 monthly salary, that he still employed. The will of Clement Jr., admitted to probate yesterday, had dropped several bequests provided in the previous testament and made his widow beneficiary of practically all the $2,000,000 estate.

"I am sure my dad's death is responsible for all this," said Clement III. "He went all to pieces when dad died. Once before, my father's death he told me if 'things got too tough' he would end his life."

Governor Blackwood said he personally favored a voluntary cotton acreage reduction, but that he had submerged his idea to his feet in an "effort to do the best I can" with the problem.

Governor Conner expressed belief the conference had been fruitful of accomplishment in "presenting a definite proposal to the governors."

The Georgia report submitted by Linder (termed the majority report) an acknowledgment of failure and said it "will convey the idea that the conference is deliberately sidestepping responsibility to take positive action."

HOUSEWIVES LOSE BREAD IN SOVIET

Moscow Also Stops Sugar Rations To Force Women Into Industry.

MOSCOW, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Russian housewives who now may purchase for themselves small rations of bread and sugar from the government stores will lose that privilege after January 1 and thereafter will have to earn their "society useful" work. The wives of a number of high government officials are in this class.

POISON DOSE FATAL TO MOTHER OF SEVEN

Mrs. J. H. Coleman, 32, of 416 Central avenue, mother of seven children, died en route to Grady hospital Thursday about noon, shortly after she had taken poison on the porch of a residence at 1632 Boulevard drive, according to police reports.

A physician called to the residence and seeing Mrs. Coleman's condition immediately called an ambulance, but she died within a few minutes. She had been separated from her husband for the last two years. Mrs. Coleman was with Mrs. W. F. Roach, with whom Mrs. Coleman resided at Central avenue.

Mrs. Roach said the woman had asked her for a gun with which to shoot herself early Thursday morning and that she had thought Mrs. Coleman was joking. When she replied she didn't have one, Mrs. Coleman said, "I have a quarter; I'll take poison." She went to the house on Boulevard drive after procuring the poison and swallowed it while standing on the porch, it was said.

A coroner's report was made, and it was said, though the DeKalb county coroner was notified, funeral arrangements will be announced by J. Austin Dillon Co.

She is survived by her husband, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Banks, of Vada, Ga.; seven children, Christine, Doris, June, Faye, Lawrence, Richard and small baby girl; two brothers, H. S. Banks, of Vada, Ga., and J. E. Banks, of Sales City, Ga.; and four sisters, Mrs. J. C. Garner, of Macon; Mrs. A. G. Coggin, Mrs. F. H. Coggin, and Miss Ada Mae Banks, of Vada.

'IT'S ALL A MISTAKE,' GERGUSON CLAIMS ON ELLIS ISLAND

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—(UP)—Alone in the "regal suite" on Ellis Island with a willing tiger orchid and a can of scented $10.00 pound tobacco, "Prince Michael Dmitri Romanoff" sent word to the press today that "it's all a mistake" and that he expected to be back at his home on the mainland by New Year's eve.

The prince, whose real name is Harry Gerguson, is being detained on a charge of "illegally entering the country within 12 months after deportation." He matched wits today with a board of inquiry, which adjourned its hearing pending further investigation.

Ellis Island officials would not comment upon the probable disposition of Gerguson's case, but Washington dispatches quoted department of labor officials as indicating "the prince" would be deported to France or Germany.

SINGLE HUMAN RACE IN DISTANT FUTURE SEEN BY PHYSICIST

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 29.—(AP)—The possibility that within the next 100 generations there may be but one human race is suggested by Dr. Henry A. Erikson, physicist at the University of Minnesota. He spoke last night before the annual national convention of the Association of Cosmopolitan Clubs.

Termining the world's present racial status of "consequence of geographical accidents sustained by primitive and limited transport possibilities," Dr. Erikson stated that because of improvements in methods of transportation and communication, preservation of races may be "ultimately impossible."

Dr. Erikson cautioned, however, that "the possibility of racial elimination need not necessarily be disquieting." Evolutionary forces beyond human control will bring about the transition, he asserted, our "initial human antipathies" will make it as gradual as possible.

CANCELLATION URGED ON FARM MORTGAGES

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Dec. 29.—(AP) Professor Herbert Simpson, of Northwestern University, told the American Farm Economics Association Wednesday that "cancellation of the $10,000,000 farm mortgage debt would do more to provide a market for goods in this country than would cancellation of the foreign debt."

Atlantan Expects New 5-Year Plan Aimed at Benefit of Soviet Farmers

In industry, education and the care of its children, the Soviet government of Russia has made good, according to I. Glustrom, a grocer of 479 McDaniel street, who has just returned from Russia. Conditions on the farms are not so good, Glustrom added.

"This is because, in its prosecution of the five-year plan, the government devoted most of its resources and its energies to construction, education and the care of its children," he explained. The people I talked to expected the rural condition to improve vastly under the next five-year plan.

Glustrom, a young man, was born in Russia, but has lived in the United States for 26 years, most of that time in Atlanta. He speaks a little Russian—enough to get by on—and on his trip made it a point to talk to the proletarians.

Working Man's Country. "Russia is essentially a country for working people," he explained. In 1926 there were 6,000,000 people working for the government; in 1928, 8,000,000; now, under the five-year plan, 15,000,000 people are working for the government in its factories and building enterprises.

In Leningrad I inspected a shoe factory where 3,500 persons were employed. These made, they told me, from $87.50 to $112.50 a month. They worked in two shifts of seven hours each. On the sixth day they rest, but this is not a general holiday, or a Sunday. Different workers have different rest days. The plants run full blast every day.

"In a shoe factory I saw 4,000 were at work, at wages from $75 to $125 a month. Women accounted for 35 per cent of the force. The machine name in the old manuscript. She was the "little sister" of several elder brothers.

As a young girl she had much difficulty in gaining permission to marry the man she wished, named "Eleven Wind." But finally the wedding was celebrated with gifts, a dance and a joint bath for the bride and groom.

The next year two of Princess Six Monkey's ambassadors were insulted by two young chiefs—with the insults portrayed by knives coming from the young men's mouths.

Princess Six Monkey declared a war of revenge, first asking advice of an old "death woman" at a temple of skulls. Like Jean D'Arc she led her forces against the two towns of the young chiefs, and personally captured her enemies.

A few days later one of the captives was sacrificed by cutting his heart out before a temple, while the other was led away by the ambassadors and sacrificed at another place.

A ceremony followed, perhaps a coronation, in which Princess Six Monkey was anointed, and then she and Prince Eleven Wind ruled in peace. Later they had two sons, "Four Wind" and "One Crocodile," and the eldest in his turn was married to the girl of his proper station in life.

Aztec Princess' Triumph in Love Read as Oldest American Romance

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Dec. 29.—(AP)—The oldest love story in America, about an Aztec princess who won the man of her choice despite all obstacles, was told today before the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

And they lived happily ever after, according to the old Aztec manuscript on which the story is written in quaint picture writing. Events in southern Mexico dating back 350 years before the Spaniards came in 1519 are recorded on the manuscript, which was described by Herbert Spinden, of the Brooklyn museum.

It tells the tale of a lady named "Six Monkey," which is the most accurate way of translating into English the pictures that stand for her name.

He quoted numerous of the theories he wrote in the last years of the nineteenth century to support their claim that Bowser's philosophy was essentially interested in what he called the group of "technocrats," headed by Howard Scott.

Bowser lectured here from about 1909 to 1919, his friends said. He later went to Philadelphia, where, they said, he retired and now spends much of his time at the Mercantile library, quietly playing chess and reading, and from it they lifted excerpts to support their contention that his "philosophy of energy" essentially is that of "technocracy." Officials of the public library said the one copy of the book they have had been loaned out only a half dozen times in 20 years.

2 MEN AND RECORDS TAKEN IN GANG RAID

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Mayor Anton Cermak's "hoodlum squad" continued its search for the elusive home office of the Capone syndicate today by raiding a Loop office and seizing two men and a stack of records.

Arrested and held for a "showup" were Sylvester Agolfin, of New York, and Mike Costello, alleged distributor of sugar for the organization's alcohol manufacture.

The records found, dealt with a variety of enterprises, including the from taxi-dance hall operations to a fake advertising scheme.

WOODRUM SEEKS CUT IN FARM BOARD FUNDS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(AP)—The view that appropriations for the farm board should be cut "to the lowest figure possible without abolishing it" was expressed today by Representative Woodrum, democrat, Virginia, chairman of the subcommittee working on the bill which carries funds for this and other federal boards.

Woodrum said he would like to see the board abolished, but believes special legislation should be enacted for that purpose. Until that is done, he said, the board should be given funds to operate on a minimum cost basis.

DEMONSTRATORS COST VIRGINIA $1,813.67

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 29.—(AP)—"Marchers" who demonstrated at the opening of congress in Washington early this month cost the commonwealth of Virginia $1,813.67.

An itemized account of the expenditure necessitated by their escort back and forth through the state was sent to Governor Ford today by T. McCall Frazier, director of the division of motor vehicles, whose division bore the cost.

NEW GUINEA CRASH KILLS MAGON MAN

Young Engineer Dies
When Plane Falls on Gold Prospecting Trip.

MACON, Ga., Dec. 29.—(AP)—An airplane crash on the island of New Guinea where he was prospecting for gold brought death to Lewis H. Harper Jr., 25-year-old mining engineer, of Macon.

He was killed last Monday but the news did not reach his home until today. A message from the New York office of his employers, the Gold Fields-American Development Company, said the plane fell at the town of Wau in the mountains stretching along the northern portion of the island. Harper's pilot, an American named Drayton, also was killed.

The young engineer was the only child of Colonel L. H. Harper and Mrs. Harper. He was born in Hogansville, Ga., but spent most of his life in Macon. Colonel Harper is superintendent of the Central of Georgia railroad's creosote plant here.

Young Harper studied at Mercer University and for a time was superintendent of mine operations for the Superior Clay Company, kaolin producers, at Dry Branch, near Macon. Last April he sailed from New York to join the gold-hunting expedition in New Guinea. The region is inaccessible except by plane.

The message from New York did not say under what circumstances the plane crashed. Nothing has been learned regarding the disposition to be made of Harper's body.

Letters from Harper were received by a Macon friend just before the Christmas holidays. They were postmarked October 19.

In one of these letters he told of the camp life and of a three-day trek over mountainous country with natives to reach the gold mine. The letter was postmarked Bulio.

"From Bulio," he wrote, "we can get a plane and fly to Wau for the week-end or even to Salomon." Evidently it was a Christmas week-end trip to Wau that cost Harper his life. . . and he wanted his Macon friends to tell his other friends that he would "sure like to be there (Macon) for the Christmas dances."

Harper was educated at Laurier High and Mercer University in Macon and the University of Georgia.

FORMER ROMAN VISITS SCENES OF BOYHOOD
ROME, Ga., Dec. 28.—Donald Harper, native of Rome and now an international lawyer of Paris, France, has been visiting scenes of his early life in Rome during the Christmas holidays. He has been the guest of his brother, Charles C. Harper, and his wife during the holidays.

Mr. Harper expressed the thought that he "had been away too long." He spoke, while here, of the memories of old days in Rome, when the present busy industrial city was a quiet country town, and there was a note of regret in his voice as he recalled the days of the horse and buggy, the old livery stables and the horse-drawn fire-fighting equipment.

Mr. Harper will spend some weeks in Georgia and will visit many friends of his boyhood before returning to his home in Paris.

HABEAS CORPUS PLEA MADE FOR JOE GROVES

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Action of Thomas county superior court in resentencing Joe Groves to the electric chair while a habeas corpus petition was pending in Baldwin county superior court was branded as illegal in arguments of his lawyers before Judge James B. Park this afternoon.

When evidence had been completed on the second habeas corpus petition which is now before the judge, attorneys were instructed to submit briefs at Greensboro, Ga., on Wednesday, January 4, and the judge announced that a decision would be reached in the case "by January 7."

Judge Park declined to grant a request by Attorney-General Lawrence Camp, who asked that pending the decision Groves be remanded to Thomas county authorities and removed to Thomas county, where he would be again resentenced.

"I want the prisoner to remain in the jurisdiction of this court until this case is decided," Judge Park said. "I don't want anything to interfere with the orderly processes of the court. I expect to reach a decision by January 7."

The judge ordered Groves be kept at the state prison farm in the custody of Superintendent B. H. Dunnaway and Warden W. L. Proctor until the case was decided.

One of the principal grounds of the defense in the new petition is that Thomas county officers had no authority to remove Groves from the jurisdiction of Judge Park's court on December 8, while the habeas corpus action was pending.

Groves' mother, sister, wife and 7-year-old son were present at the hearing. At the conclusion they came forward and embraced the prisoner.

'Diable' Must Have Been Reading Mrs. Lee's Letters to Her Folks

CORDELE, Ga., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Some people who regard a dog as just a dog say what "Diable" did was a mere coincidence but others are talking of super-human instinct.

R. E. Harris bought the big French collie in South Carolina and gave him to his daughter, Mamie Laura. They named him "Diable" and in a little while every mother in town knew him for his faithfulness in playing nursemaid to neighbors' children.

And then Mamie Laura got married, went away to Miami to live and "Diable" changed overnight. He lost interest in everything and children calling in vain for him to come out and play.

They reached the house at 5:30 a. m. before other members of the family had arisen. A reception committee of one greeted them at the front door step. "Diable" barking and leaping with a sort of joy few humans know.

Soon after the wedding he disappeared. The family sought him far and wide but to no avail.

Yesterday Mamie Laura, now Mrs. W. J. Lee, came home for a visit just 18 months after "Diable" disappeared. Her brother met her at the railway station and she asked questions about her lost pet but there were no good tidings.

Passes in 91st Year.

WAYCROSS, Ga., Dec. 29.—J. B. Jones, 90, familiarly known throughout south Georgia as "Jim Buck" Jones, a Confederate veteran and one of the founders of Waycross, died Wednesday at his home on Thomas street.

Mr. Jones celebrated his ninetieth birthday on May 16 of this year. He was a member of the Primitive Baptist faith, having founded the Jones Primitive Baptist church, on Thomas street.

He is survived by six sons, W. N. Jones, B. F. Jones, J. E. Jones, J. H. Jones, all of Waycross, and N. C. and T. W. Jones, of West Palm Beach, Fla.; also a daughter, Mrs. M. Jones, of Bainbridge, and a number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

'SLAIN' ATTORNEY IS BELIEVED ALIVE

Man Answering McCain's
Description Stored Auto
in Ohio, Police Find.

HENDERSON, N. C., Dec. 29.—(AP)—The belief that R. S. McCain, 60-year-old attorney, had been slain gave way to hope that he is still alive with the receipt here today of a report from Columbus, Ohio, that McCain's automobile had been stored in a garage there Saturday by a man answering the description of its owner.

F. F. Kuntz, Columbus police chief, telegraphed Henderson police that a post card photo of McCain had been tentatively identified as the man who took the car to the garage, and requested a better photograph to further identification.

Meantime, the anonymous letter from "a boy in distress," which purported to recount the killing of a motorist near Petersburg, Va., last Thursday—the day McCain dropped out of sight while on a business trip to Richmond—was closely scrutinized, and some doubt was expressed as to its authenticity.

Virginia authorities yesterday reported to have expressed the belief that the letter's account of a slaying on the Petersburg-Richmond highway early Thursday afternoon was hardly credible.

A search was continued by relatives of McCain and officials near Hagerstown, Md., near which place the letter said the motorist's body was buried.

Little Hope Is Held

For Mrs. Hutchinson

Little hope was entertained at Grady hospital Thursday night for the recovery of Mrs. E. D. Hutchinson, who shot herself in the Hutchinson home, 67 The Prado, Wednesday night after being told by her husband that he was filing a petition for a divorce.

Hutchinson's petition, filed in Fulton superior court, disclosed the fact that a reconciliation was effected, but a reconciliation was effected, but the latest petition said that separation would be simultaneous with the filing of the petition.

Notified of his wife's attempt at suicide, after he had gone to a downtown hotel, Hutchinson visited her at the hospital. Her condition late Thursday night was extremely grave as the result of a pistol wound in the abdomen.

CONSTITUTION THANKED FOR CHARITY EFFORTS

Thanking employees of The Constitution and all who aided in charity work done by himself during the Christmas holidays, J. D. Strubling, Atlanta policeman, said in a letter that but for the generous response to his appeal he would not have been able to deliver upward of 500 presents to destitute children last Saturday.

"May I express my heartfelt thanks," the letter said, "especially to employees of The Constitution, who so generously purchased candy from me. With the profits derived from the sale of the candy by Bernard Blackwell, Atlanta's youngest policeman, we were able to make nearly 500 children happy during Christmas."

Two Alabama Solons Legislate Selves Out

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 29.—(AP)—Two members of the Alabama legislature tonight found themselves in the position of having legislated themselves out of office.

Their plight was discovered when Governor B. M. Miller called a special election in Lee county for January 30 to "fill the vacancies" in the house of representatives caused by Representatives C. B. Gullatt Sr. and Roy L. Smith "ceasing to be residents" of that county.

Both Gullatt and Smith are residents of Phenix City, Ala., which, under a bill passed at the 1932 special session of the legislature changing the boundary lines of Lee and Russell counties, was placed entirely in the latter. Before that, part of the town had been in Russell and part in Lee. Both of the representatives favored the act.

"Kingfish" Again Talks For State Government

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Senator Huey P. Long's night today gave out a formal statement described as being in behalf of the state administration, announcing the final signing of mutual contracts for construction of the $13,000,000 Mississippi river bridge here would be effected tomorrow at 10 a. m.

The statement made no reference to the failure of Governor O. K. Allen to appear here yesterday at a scheduled meeting of all interested parties, called to finally sign the contracts between the state, city and participating railroads.

Some months ago Senator Long announced that he was going with state politics and would devote his talents to the national scene.

SURVEY SHOWS GAINS IN BUILDING, COTTON

Substantial gains in awards in building and construction contracts, a gain in cotton consumption and increased production of iron, together with a smaller than usual decrease in wholesale trade in November, were credited Thursday with indicating a decided upswing in conditions in the southeast, according to statistics issued in the monthly review of conditions in the sixth federal reserve district. Figures were furnished by the Atlanta district reserve bank.

Compared with figures of the nation as a whole, the report indicated the southeast is ahead of other sections in business recovery.

During November there was an increase in the output of automobiles and a gain in employment by manufacturers of automobiles and agricultural implements, though industrial activity throughout the United States declined by somewhat more than the seasonal amount.

Other optimistic occurrences were the advance in wholesale commodity prices, an increase in federal reserve member bank reserves, caused by the sale of $85,000,000 in gold to the supply and the resulting issuance of currency, and a continued migration of city dwellers to farms.

The decline in wholesale trade in the district was 10 per cent over October, as against a decline of 11.2 per cent for November, 1931. Retail trade in 38 reporting department stores showed a seasonal decline of 15.4 per cent from October, but was 21.1 per cent less than in November, 1931. Stocks of merchandise were slightly higher than last year.

Sales of paid for, ordinary, life insurance increased by 7.5 per cent from October to November, but were 19.3 per cent less than November, 1931.

While building and construction contract awards increased over the preceding month, building permits, after increasing each month from the low point in July, decreased for November.

Cotton crops for the year, increased by more than the expected amount during November, still were lower than in recent years. Other cash crops were also smaller than last year.

Curtis, Lifer, Offers To Go to Chair To Save Life of Expectant Mother

By BEN COTHMAN.
(Copyright, 1932, by United Press.)
Howard Curtis, sentenced to life imprisonment for murder of Annette Bryant, his sweetheart, has offered to go to the electric chair in place of Mrs. Beatrice Ferguson Snipes, an expectant mother who is to be electrocuted in April in South Carolina.

Curtis, who is 27, told the United Press in the Fulton county jail here Thursday that he had written Governor Ibra C. Blackwood, of South Carolina, that "it ain't right for little children to have to come up without a mother" and that if the state would free Mrs. Snipes, sentenced for murder of a rural policeman, or commute her sentence to life imprisonment, "give her a chance to fight free" he would die in her place.

An attempt was made during his trial to plead insanity for Curtis. E. R. Newdgate M. Owensby, prominent southern physician, examined Curtis and pronounced him "a constitutionally psychopathic inferior," but legally sane.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Dec. 29.—(UP)—A letter written by Howard Curtis, life prisoner in Atlanta, Ga., offering to die in the place of Mrs. Beatrice Ferguson Snipes, expectant mother sentenced to be electrocuted here in April, was reported to have been received at the governor's office yesterday.

Governor Ibra C. Blackwood, however, is in Memphis, Tenn., attending a southwide cotton conference and it was learned that nothing will be done until he returns.

Mrs. Snipes was convicted of killing a rural policeman who stopped the car which she was riding with her husband to search it for whisky. Mrs. Snipes took the officer's gun and shot him.

The scale of cuts ordered today provides reductions of: 6 per cent on the first $2,000, graduated up through brackets to 33.9 per cent on all salaries over $15,000.

The Way You Take It

By Charles J. McGuirk

INSTALLMENT I.

After it was all over, Nancy Winstead, analyzing it, could see that her Uncle Ed Loring was pretty directly responsible for everything that happened, though the dividend check was what set the whole thing in motion. The dividend check was so unexpected, Nancy found it that morning in their mail box in the building, "way" way, "way" up town in which she and David had their cheap little three room and kitchenette apartment "for the duration of the depression."

It was a very, very light green and crinkly and it had three figures, first punched in and then written after the words, "Pay to the order of Nancy Winstead."

Nancy had completely forgotten that she owned the stock, and staring at the check, she felt much as a young Jewish wife must have felt when she picked up her first piece of manna in that celebrated Hebrew depression of 3,000 years ago. For Nancy, it must be admitted, had been feeling a little low. The depression, of course, was the main reason for that, but there were other little nagging and contributing causes. The day, for instance, was the third in which the sun had insisted on remaining behind the clouds. She was worried about David's worry about conditions and "what's going to happen of us?" And she had been very poignantly missing their house on the slope of the Orange mountains which they had forsaken for this tiny apartment after renting it furnished at a good price.

Still, while very pleasant, there was nothing soul-shaking about getting an unexpected check. She had expected them before and she got them, in spite of David's gloomy prophecies, to get them again. If nothing else had happened that morning she would have simply called up David, told him about the check, and taken and obeyed his instructions about the safest way to invest it.

But something did happen. In fact, three things happened, every one of them so trifling in itself that you couldn't possibly have suspected the tremendous consequences of their sum. They are here set down in their chronological order. The sun made his sudden reappearance as she looked up from the check. Her eyes were caught by the picture of a dress, and Uncle Ed called her up and invited her to luncheon with him.

Looking from the check to the unaccustomed sunlight, Nancy experienced the second thrilling uplift that morning and subconsciously linked them together as an omen of good luck, how the picture of the dress was in a department store advertisement in the morning newspaper which lay on the telephone table. Nancy, sitting down to read the paper, noted immediately that it was a very good imitation of an imitation of a creation by Patou and that the girl modeled in it was as slender and shapely as herself. Mentally slipping it over her head, Nancy gazed into an imaginary mirror and decided it looked lovely on her.

But then she looked at the price and saw that it was simply out of the question. David would be furious if she spent so much money in these hard times. So she pushed the newspaper and temptation from her with her left hand and was reaching for the telephone when it rang, and it was Uncle Ed.

"Hello, Nancy," his nice voice greeted her over the wire. "How are you? His suddenly sunny morning? And best of all, the firmness of his mouth and jaw gave notice of his ability to translate that thought into action. The rest of him was her own purely personal matter. A warm wave of appreciation surging over her told her how deeply personal it was.

David, she earnestly informed the girl in the mirror, was a perfect example of how responsibility can ripen and mold a thoughtless, care-free boy into a mature and solid businessman. Thinking very concentratedly to smother a small but insistently bitter voice she didn't want to hear, Nancy clicked off David's virtues before and after the depression. Thus:

Before the Depression: David, a care-free, handsome and brilliant bond salesman, whose clothes were said to be the envy of Wall Street, whose record for bond sales was ditto and whose paper profits from "shrewd" buys on a rising market were more than a hundred thousand dollars. Joint owner with her of the house in Montclair, which was built from a sum made up equally of a part of David's profits and her parents' wedding gift to her. A careless spender, contentedly seeking amusement with her at the theaters, night clubs, golf courses, bridge tables and country club dances. A romantic, passionate and practically insatiable lover of his wife, herself, Nancy.

A Brief Interlude: Just before the deluge. In which David snarlingly and most unwillingly taking Uncle Ed's advice to "unload" because the bottom is going to drop right out from under this balloon market" on her insistence took 15 per cent of his profits two days before the crash and lost the rest.

After the Depression: David, still handsome, but not so brilliant a bond salesman. Out of the market altogether. No longer carefree. No longer, brimful of cares and fears. Still wearing the same clothes which, after nearly three years, were envied by practically nobody. No longer a careless spender. In fact, an almost morbidly enthusiastic nonspender. Same with amusements, which had shrunk to a morose picture once a week. Still in possession of the house in Montclair, but living here in this (practically a) closet because the house rent paid the taxes and gave them a tiny income besides.

And still in possession of $15,000 in government bonds and the resultant 4 per cent increment. Saving it all so "well" he is in a position to take advantage when things become normal. No longer (and here the bitterness welled up in spite of her) a romantic, a passionate, nor an insatiable lover. And why should he be considering going back to the house on which the lease expired next week? It would cost so little more to live in the sunshine.

Shocked at the dismal trend her thoughts were taking she glanced at the clock to learn she had very little time. She dressed hurriedly, though as her mirror informed her, not in effect. On the way out she whisked the check from the telephone table into her handbag.

Admiral Clark H. Woodward Tells of Stay in Nicaragua

Atlantan Relates Supervision of Election in Central Republic; Flew
Here From Mexico.

Admiral Clark Howell Woodward, U. S. N., stopped in Atlanta Thursday on his way from Nicaragua to Washington, and while here related a unique experience. In 1927, representing President Coolidge, he informed Dr. Juan B. Sacasa, then a revolutionary, that his claim to the presidency of Nicaragua would not be recognized by the United States. On December 15 last, Admiral Woodward, representing President Hoover, formally notified Sacasa, through the Nicaraguan congress, of his election to the presidency. Admiral Woodward was sent to Nicaragua by President Hoover and the state department as envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to supervise the election of a president and senators and congressmen.

No Trouble From Sandino. Dr. Juan B. Sacasa, former minister to Washington and a liberal, defeated Don Adolfo Diaz, a conservative and president twice before, by a majority of 22,500 votes. "Sandino gave us no trouble," the admiral said. "He is the revolutionist who for the past five years has fought against United States' occupation. The election occurred on November 6, but it took about two weeks to get all the returns in. As president of the national board of elections, I presented the results to a committee of congress which met on December 15. Congress ratified the report the next day, and proclaimed the new president."

"The election was quiet and orderly. I recalled a previous visit to Nicaragua in 1927 when Sacasa, a vice president, contested the election of Diaz. I served President Coolidge's ultimatum on him. This was to the effect that he wouldn't be recognized by the United States. Just recently I notified Sacasa that he was elected, and that Diaz, his old foe, was defeated."

Came Here by Air. Admiral Woodward made the trip to Atlanta by air. En route he stopped at Merida, Yucatan, and Uxmal, to see the ruins and in Mexico City where he saw eight bull fights, some of which were fine, others not so good. This was on Christmas Day, and 24,000 persons were in the arena. Admiral Woodward has had his present high rank for 1 1/2 years. He is a native Atlantan and a graduate of the Boys' High School. For a time he was a reporter on The Con-

Million-Dollar House Unused, To Be Wrecked

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 29. (AP)—The million-dollar house that Charles G. Gates built, but never occupied, will be wrecked.

The heir to the fortune of "Bet-you-a-Million" Gates had the mansion erected in 1913—a 47-room house overlooking the Lake of the Isles. He and his wife visualized it as the future gathering place of Twin Cities' elite.

Then Gates took a trip to Wyoming and died there before his dream took definite form. For years a caretaker has been its sole occupant.

He is a cousin of Clark Howard, who for the past five years has been in command of a special service squadron.

BROWN-EYED 'SON' AGAIN MAY FIGHT TO SHARE ESTATE

CHICAGO, Dec. 29. (AP)—Brown-eyed George Adair Green Longley was given a further opportunity today to prove he was the son and heir of a blue-eyed father, Albert W. Longley, millionaire hat manufacturer.

Three appellate judges remanded the case to circuit court for retrial, asserting they believed a verdict against Longley by Circuit Judge Michael J. Feinberg a year ago constituted "a substantial injustice."

Pressing a claim to a share in the manufacturer's $1,000,000 estate, George Longley contended he was a son of the thrice married millionaire and his first wife. He was born, the suit states, 18 months before they were married 54 years ago.

The case became famous two years ago, when the Mendellian law—which holds that blue-eyed parents cannot have a brown-eyed child—was argued in court. George Longley has brown eyes. The eyes of both Albert Longley and his first wife were blue.

J. Ira Harrelson Weds South Carolina Girl

PROPERTY VALUES IN SOME COUNTIES LOWER THAN 1860

The property values of some Georgia counties are lower today than they were in 1860, Comptroller General William B. Harrison revealed in figures made public Thursday. The total value of property over the state has increased considerably, however. Mr. Harrison reported, chiefly because of great increases in the valuations in Fulton, Chatham, Richmond, Bibb and the other more populous counties of the state.

The total property valuation of the state for 1932 is $955,201,468, the comptroller general reported. In 1860 the total valuation was $672,432,901, of which $208,273,001 was represented by slaves. Slaves at that time composed about 40 per cent of the total valuation. It is in the predominantly agricultural counties in which valuations have decreased, much of the decrease, of course, being due to the liberation of the slaves. The greatest decrease is shown in Burke county, which in 1860 had a valuation of $12,637,300. This year the valuation totals only $5,373,707. Coweta, Troup, Houston and other counties show decreases, though none of these fell off like Burke county.

The greatest increase in values was made in Fulton county. In 1860 the valuation in this county was $8,931,812, while in 1932 the valuation was fixed at $250,306,210.

CLEMENCY SEEKERS KEEP RUSSELL BUSY

Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. had one of the most strenuous days of his tenure of office Thursday when he interviewed more than 100 persons interested in clemency cases which have been submitted to him by the prison commission. It was the last clemency day of the governor who will quit his office on January 10. From 9 o'clock in the morning until early Thursday night the governor's office was crowded with friends, relatives, and attorneys of prisoners seeking clemency and of persons on hand to oppose the pleas. The governor is expected to act on the cases within a few days. Governor Russell will leave Atlanta immediately after turning over his office to Eugene Talmadge. He will go to Washington to take a seat in the United States senate, to which he was elected on November 8, completing the unexpired term of the late Senator William J. Harris.

JURY PRESENTMENTS TO BE MADE TODAY

Fulton grand jury will end its work today for the November-December term of court. The new January term grand jury will be sworn in and charged on January 3 by Judge E. D. Thomas.

Though the exact nature of the presentments will not be known until they have been returned in open court some time today, it is understood that economy measures adopted by the county commissioners will be lauded and that there will be certain recommendations relative to individual officers in the courthouse. It is known that the grand jury has had under consideration audits of the various activities in the office of the clerk of superior court, and it is expected that this office will be mentioned in the presentments.

"SARGON WAS WORTH $20 A BOTTLE," SHE STATES

"It Gave Me the Finest Health I've Had in Ten Years."

"All other medicines and treatments I took failed to help me, but this wonderful Sargon treatment gave me the finest health I've had in 10 years," recently stated Mrs. Edson W. Stambach, of 927 Lowry avenue north, Minneapolis.

"My husband says it was the best investment we ever made and I agree with him. I was told I had catarrh of the stomach. After nearly every meal I suffered with indigestion and my heart would flutter and beat so hard I feared I had heart trouble. I was so nervous I couldn't sleep well, and before I finished my housework I would be tired to death."

"Sargon was worth at least twenty dollars a bottle to me! It just seems remarkable, after being on a diet so long, to be able to eat anything I want, and digest it easily. My nervousness and worry is over. I sleep and rest well at night, and my housework is easy for me again. I just can't say too

PENETRO

BRINGS QUICKEST RELIEF TO SUFFERERS OF

COLD EPIDEMIC

PENETRO is the Deepest Penetrating, Most Effective Cold Salve ever developed. Discovered by Grandma and Perfected by Modern Medical Science, PENETRO Penetrates 4 Times Deeper to drive out Head, Chest Colds Quicker than any thing you ever used before.

Stuff, miserable head colds and stubborn, deep-seated systemic colds are knocked out quicker—much quicker—with Penetro, the mutton suet salve. Grandma, you know, used mutton suet for years in the successful treatment of colds. And now modern science has taken her old time remedy—mutton suet—and added to it the newest and most effective cold medication known to give you Penetro, the deepest, quickest penetrating cold salve ever developed.

Penetrates 4 Times Deeper To Drive Out Colds Quicker

Penetro is unlike ordinary cold salves. Such salves with their base of mineral oil or petroleum stay merely on the skin's surface. But Penetro with its base of highly-refined mutton suet goes right in—deep within—and carries its powerful medication direct to the seat of cold infection. It takes deep penetration to get a cold out. And that's exactly what Penetro does. It penetrates four times deeper to drive out head and chest colds quicker.

Mothers Prefer Penetro to Break Up Congestion in Children

Mothers everywhere in treating their children's colds prefer Penetro because of its deep, direct penetrating action. Penetro goes right in to break up congestion in croupy children, soothe inflammation and bring blessed relief and comfort. Mothers also like Penetro because it's so nice and clean to use. Stainless and snow-white, Penetro does not stain bed clothes and sleeping garments.

Penetro Does These Things To Drive Out Colds Quicker

Applied to the nose and throat, Penetro soothes inflamed membranes, relaxes bronchial muscles, and opens up cold-clogged nasal passages to permit free, easy breathing. Applied to the chest, Penetro warms the skin, stimulates circulation, breaks up congestion, draws out aches and pains and drives out deep-seated, system colds before ordinary salves and methods get started.

Stainless and Snow-white—Ask for It by Name—Penetro

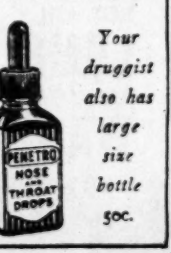

Epidemic is too serious... too dangerous for you to rely on half-way measures in treating the colds of you and your family. Don't dose yourself with a lot of medicine, or use ordinary cold salves that simply can't penetrate. Take no chances. Attack that cold at the seat of infection with penetrating Penetro, the mutton suet salve. It's stainless and snow-white. Ask for it by name: Penetro, 25c a jar. The 50c economy size contains three times as much as the 25c size. The $1.00 family size contains seven times as much as the 25c size.

Check Your Cold Before It Has a Chance to Really Get Started

The chances are you can avoid colds altogether by applying Penetro Nose and Throat Drops night and morning. You are certain to check that cold by using this clinically tested preparation at the first sneeze or sniffle. Penetro Nose and Throat Drops (contains ephedrine) stops the spread of germs, opens up stuffy nasal passages, and brings instant relief to sinus sufferers. Penetro Nose and Throat Drops are approved by leading nose and throat specialists. Today, ask your druggist for the generous size bottle, 50c.

The department of archives and history of Georgia will exhibit the first diploma ever granted to a woman by a chartered college. The Christmas season holds special significance in Wesleyan's history, for, according to Miss Blair's records, it was on December 23, 1839, that the Georgia state legislature, after a long and furious debate, granted Wesleyan's charter, thus recognizing women's educational rights as equal to those of men. Any interesting souvenirs owned by Atlanta alumnae may be loaned for the exhibit, if sent to Miss Blair by 1 o'clock Saturday.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

BY CAROLINE CHATFIELD

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield:

My wife has packed up the three kiddies, one six, one three and the other a new baby, and gone back to her mother. The occasion of her going was that my socks burned up while I was out on an errand (getting a sack of government flour). In the midst of this excitement the little girl came in and announced that she was already late for school. The house was full of smoke, my wife had evidently lain down to nurse the baby and had gone to sleep, losing track of time. I can't write it all, but can only sketch the highlights. She said I was no good, couldn't make a living. I am not much good I know. Perhaps I don't get to town very early these mornings but I am quite a way to walk and no car fare to waste. I can't get to sleep very early either, worrying over things, a wife and three children, regular jobs just begging and peddling—house rent in arrears, water bill for last month just paid—gas due and nothing to pay it with—an ex-soldier, aged 45. Her family are pretty good to us, the mother is sick, the father dead, the brother has just sent us a load of coal but won't speak to me when he meets me. Wife complains to them about my laziness and they cuss me for being trifling. Enough to keep a man awake!

I incline question and answer about domestic relations. What do you think of it?

Q.—Don't in-laws, especially mothers-in-law, think that their sons and daughters are being treated by their husbands or wives? What can be done to offset this normal condition of their minds?

A.—This is an old story of the wife's mother, consequently the widespread dislike for the son-in-law by mother-in-law which should not be. These disputes are generally caused by misunderstanding, especially when the wife or husband continually criticizes the other to the parents. The daughter actually knows all the circumstances.

The best-known rule to follow is to keep your differences and misunderstandings entirely away from the older people. The daughter especially should always guard against ever entering a complaint against her husband by telling her parents of his shortcomings. She should, on the other hand, brag on him and boast of his achievements and good traits, as this will help her with the cold and will help her husband to feel that his wife really measures up to what his wife tells her parents he is. This is especially true if they are married against the wishes of the parents, for otherwise the daughter is just making the older ones say in their hearts that it really serves her right, etc.

During the present times of depression and unemployment in the business world it is hard enough and strain enough upon the husband to make ends meet and whereas the wife is worried also it is her duty to try to make life as easy as possible on the man that is doing his best.

LAZY JACK.

ANSWER:

As philosophical reflections your question and answer are excellent, but the time has come in your affairs when philosophical reflections are utterly useless. With your wife's lack of faith in the face and describe them so faithfully that your readers can see them in bold relief, you should be doing some practical thinking about ways and means to solve the difficulties that beset your domestic situation. If there were a fine opportunity for a trained social worker to put his or her theories into practice your home presents that opportunity. If you have a professional house cleaner come into a dirty and disordered home and with swift and sure strokes set that house to rights, sweeping, dusting, "neatening it up," you have a pretty good idea of what a good social worker can accomplish in your home (with your co-operation, of course).

So my suggestion to you is to go immediately to your wife's office, see her problems before the secretary and ask help. Worry, lessness, unemployment will unfit any man for his duties. The state may not be able to provide employment for all such married husbands nor supply funds sufficient to maintain him and his family in their accustomed mode of life. But one thing the state can do and offers to do, that is to give you the benefit of the counsel and sympathy of trained social workers. Ask how they will love your case! So much of their work is necessarily with people of meager mentality and limited education, with people that are where they are because of what they are, rather than because they have met with accidental disaster. But the best social worker cannot imbue you with ambition, nor strengthen your character, nor make you a kind, affectionate, industrious father and husband. That you must accomplish for yourself.

'Strange Interlude,' O'Neill Drama, On Screen at Loew's Grand Today

Eugene O'Neill's Pulitzer prize play, "Strange Interlude," is the attraction at Loew's New Grand theater, in its screen version, for the week beginning today. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer have made of the play, which took five hours to present on the stage, a colorized, splendid picture which runs for a few minutes less than two hours. Nothing of importance in the plot, the character development or the atmosphere of the drama is lost and the fact that it is shown with no advance in prices demonstrates the determination of the Loew organization to make their new theater the outstanding center of Atlanta's amusement section.

Despite the length and importance of the feature, there are more of the delightful short subjects for which the Loew is notable also on the program.

THE SPORTLIGHT

By Kenneth Rice

The recent complaint among several college leaders that too much heavy proselytizing was going on—that too many football scholarships were being used, and that too many other ways were employed to build up winning football teams—brings up a problem which can be approached in only one way.

That way is to arrange schedules among universities which have about the same entrance requirements, the same scholarship basis and the same athletic codes. This method will be at least a big help in the right direction. And for that matter the trend has been this way for the last year or two.

It is hardly fair competition where several star football players enter one university to compete against some rival where the players referred to would have no chance of admittance.

This happens frequently. For example, A, B and C try to enter some college and fail. They are then turned up at a rival institution and proceed to mop up with dispatch and dispatch.

A year or two of depression hasn't helped matters in any way. Colleges now need bigger gate receipts to handle their athletic programs. And the surest way to get bigger gate receipts is to have a winning team. And the best way to get a winning team is to get good football players.

Universities with high scholarship standards are at a disadvantage when competing against those with lower standards. This is a tangled web which can be handled only through the correct arrangement of schedules.

WHEN THE KING SLUMPS

Even the greatest can know days of slowness when the killing slump steps in. There was a time when Ty Cobb went to bat 24 consecutive times without getting a base hit, the longest hitting span the Georgian ever knew.

Two years ago the same dread attack struck Lefty O'Doul, the Dodger slugger who led the National league this season.

Lefty started at a fast pace and then suddenly the base-hit harvest went to seed. Day after day passed as the famous slugger swung in vain, with only a scratch hit here and there.

This began to get Lefty's goat. Finally, one afternoon, he came to the plate and the umpire began striking him.

Strike one—Strike two—and finally strike three. As the third strike was squarely over the plate there could be no kick on the decision, but Lefty had to get some sort of squawk out of his system.

"Say," he growled to the umpire as he walked from the plate, "don't call those strikes so loud."

BASEBALL AND GOLF

Lefty O'Doul's early batting average is another answer to the charge that the golf swing is bad for baseball.

O'Doul is one of the star golfers of the diamond clan. He frequently touches the low 70's and is consistently under 80. He plays golf all through the winter under California skies and then returns in the spring to lead the league at bat or give some one else a hard battle for this honor.

Lefty is another player who golf at every chance, and even facing his twelfth season on the tour he is still cheering when he Babe walks up with a chunk of ash in his hands.

This may be a good time to report that Lou Gehrig's turn to golf is coming along nicely.

The Yankee slugger has been working hard at the game this winter and is now reported under 100—which isn't so bad for a player who never swung a driver or brassie.

It will be interesting to see how the golf swing affects Gehrig's putting average. It ought to help in the matter of timing, which is one of the foundations of both swings.

THE NEW HOPE

A somewhat baffled golfer writes in to say his game hasn't improved a lick in the last few years and he is keen to improve the situation in 1933.

His game ranges from 90 to 95, and he can't understand why he should not be able to crack 90 at almost every start.

The answer is that he has solidified his faults—has hammered them into set habits, which operate day by day and barely change. A bad fault or a bad habit can go only from bad to worse.

Offering a correction in limited space is none too simple.

What this golfer needs is a study of his main faults and a clearer idea of the correct swing.

He must get a better picture of swinging with less tension, which usually means standing straighter, lighter gripping and better use of the left hand and left arm.

"Too much right hand" is nearly always one of the basic faults. This can be corrected by swinging a club 10 or 15 minutes a day, using only the left hand and left arm, with the right kept completely out of play.

Practice of this sort at least helps one to build up the swinging power of the left and to develop the idea of its instinctive use.

Few will have the patience to try out this exercise, but those who do will be almost certain to receive a direct reward.

MIAMI TOURNEY VALE HALFBACK TO OPEN TODAY RESUMES WORK

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 29.—(AP)—The nation's golf stars are in final positions for the practice for tomorrow's opening of the $10,000 Miami open golf tournament at Miami Springs course.

Led by Tommy Armour, defending his victory in the 1931 tournament, and with Gene Sarazen, United States and British open champion, offering the most serious pre-tourney threat, a record-breaking list of professional and amateur entrants was expected to reach 175.

Joe Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y., and winner of the 1930 tournament, was listed in the pairings, as announced today, as were his two brothers.

Other high lights scheduled to tee off tomorrow for the first 18 holes of the 72-hole event included Denny Shute, Cleveland, recently winner of the $10,000 Miami open, and John Roloff, Menominee, Mich., runner-up in the Baltimore affair; Ed Dudley, Wilmington, Del.; Billy Burke, 1931 United States open champion; Prince Fumitaka Konoze, Japanese amateur; Enrie Ball and Charlie Yates, Atlanta.

Schedule of play calls for the second 18 holes Saturday, with a 36-hole wind-up Sunday.

BETTER DAYS

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—(UP)—Malcolm Farmer, athletic director at Yale University, today predicted Yale football would be better off than ever.

Farmer, under their new coach, Reggie Root, would come back to the former high place occupied by Eli eleventh. Farmer spoke at the annual Yale father-and-son banquet here.

WARNER SEEKS DOWN' POINTS IN RULE CHANGE

Veteran Coach Advocates Credit for Each First Down.

By Alan Gould, Associated Press Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Glen Scobey (Pop) Warner was not able to complete his migration back to the east in time to augment the football coaches' discussion of the new rules, but from Palo Alto the voice of the old master could be heard today in the advocacy of one of his proposals—a change in the gridiron scoring system to give one point for each first down, in addition to the present method of scoring. He also urged a change in the new "dead-ball" rule.

Warner's views were contained in a letter to Gilmore Dohie, of Cornell, who presented the coaches' report on rules to the National Football Association at its annual meeting in New York City.

"The public likes a free scoring game," wrote Warner, who soon will transfer his work-bench from Stanford to the University of California, "and the member of the National Football Association who has been in the game for 20 years knows that the public likes a free scoring game."

Warner's proposal would make the game more of a free-for-all, rather than a game of strategy and tactics. It would provide many more thrills—look at the scores that go up now when the stakes are moved forward.

"The whole idea of the game would be to advance the ball and by scoring a point for each first down it would make it advisable to take more chances on third and fourth downs, instead of always punting. I have advocated this change before and some have said, 'Oh, yes, Warner wants to score first down because he gains all his ground in the middle of the field.' I have no selfish motive in advocating this change. I believe it would help the game and we all know the game needs help right now."

"It would be advisable to except first downs resulting from a penalty of more than five yards and not count a first down inside the opponents' five-yard line, if a touchdown is scored on the next series of downs. This would prevent purely punting the ball, say, six inches from the goal line, on a long run."

Katherine Rawls was billed for the second day of the meet in an attempt to set a new mark in the 300-yard medley swim, while Lenore Knight expected to attempt new records in several events.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 29.—(AP)—It isn't easy to play golf in these days, so says Coach Chick Meehan, of the Manhattan College football team, is concerned.

Instead, Meehan is considerably interested in the prospect of a considerable sunshine while his 22 charges, here for a New Year's day intercollegiate game with the University of Miami, accustom themselves to the ordeal of tropic sunrays and a balmy climate that more than once before has brought disaster into the camps of invading teams from northern zones.

The Manhattanites held a third long, hard workout at the Miami Biltmore Country Club course this afternoon.

Meanwhile, Coach Tommy McCann, of the University of Miami Hurricane, assisted by Coach Bob Zuppke, of the University of Illinois, went ahead with the job of whipping the local outfit into line for the Monday game.

At their University of California practice field, the western gridders went through a long session. It included dummy scrimmage both of offense and defense in addition to an intensive drill against aerial attack.

Coaches Orr Hollingsberry and Dana Bible have tentatively decided upon a starting line as follows: Ends—Steve Hukoff, Nebraska; Ralph Stone, Olympic Club; tackles—Bill Morgan, Oregon, and Jack Johnson, Utah; guards—Bill Morgan, Oregon, and Jack Johnson, Utah; center, Lawrence Ely, Nebraska.
